

What is Hyperbaric Oxygen Therapy?

Hyperbaric Oxygen Therapy (HBOT) is a medical treatment in which a patient breathes 100% pure oxygen while the pressure of the treatment chamber is slowly increased above atmospheric pressure.

During a treatment, oxygen under pressure is delivered into the hyperbaric chamber, increasing the partial pressure of oxygen within a person's body as much as fifteen times above normal tissue saturation. Increased oxygen accelerates the healing process and assists in treating a variety of medical conditions. Hyperbaric Oxygen Therapy is approved by the American Medical Association (AMA) and the Federal Drug Administration (FDA) for certain medical conditions. Cost of treatment for some indications may be covered by Medicare and private insurance companies.

About Our Facility

Desert Hyperbaric Medicine is a state-of-the-art facility and the most advanced private hyperbaric oxygen treatment center in the Coachella Valley. Treatment sessions are administered in one of our single occupancy "Sechrist Monoplace Chambers."

Treatments are designed for the patient's comfort, providing them the opportunity to watch television, listen to music or even take a nap.

The center has a medical team with an extensive background in hyperbaric medicine. Prior to receiving any treatment, patients are consulted by one of our experienced hyperbaric Certified Technicians and our Medical Director is on site for pre and post consultations when requested.
